Three-Year Financial Strategic Plan

Thanks To The Community

During the past two years, the City of Long Beach (City) has implemented the Council-directed Three-Year Financial Strategic Plan (Plan) to address a projected structural budget deficit over a three-year period. Thanks to extensive and productive deliberations with the City Council, the community, and City staff, $72 million of an identified $102 million General Fund structural deficit has been eliminated. However, the City is continuing to ask for community input as solving Year Three's remaining $30 million structural deficit may be the most difficult challenge yet.

General Fund Nuts and Bolts

The General Fund receives revenues from taxes, fees and other sources that do not have a legally restricted use. This revenue is then used to pay for many critical City services, such as: Police, Fire, Emergency Medical, Library, Parks, Recreation, and Code Enforcement services; Sidewalk, Curb and Gutter Replacement; and Infrastructure Maintenance.

Over the past several years, tax revenue and other resources to support these General Fund services have declined. Making matters worse is the fact that expenses have been increasing, primarily due to escalating workers' compensation, employee benefit, and general liability insurance costs.

Meeting Our Goals: Two Years of Hard Decisions

The Plan has allowed for the elimination of costs through thousands of specific solutions, which have been approved in City budgets over the last two years:

- Reduction of $10.9 million in General Administration and Management costs
- Elimination of 376 positions
- Increased employee contribution to healthcare and other benefit costs
- Reduction of City-assigned vehicles, cell phones, computers, and other support costs
- Reduction in the Library's hours of operations and materials budgets
- Increased fees-for-service to better recover costs
- Optimizing many City functions including code enforcement, workers' compensation, and fire services to improve the quality of services while saving money.

So far, the City has been able to accomplish these reductions without significantly impacting public safety and emergency services. In fact, with the use of grant funds, 26 police officers have been added to the force over the past two years.

Continuing Challenges

While great progress has been made, much work still remains. In fact, the remaining $30 million in General Fund structural deficit solutions could be the most difficult to achieve. Reductions must be made during a time when our City desperately needs investment in its infrastructure and neighborhoods. Issues of service demand surrounding a growing population, rising levels of poverty, and the City's ever-changing demographics – coupled with the increased costs of providing service – make prioritizing needs and focusing resources to deliver appropriate services in the years ahead of utmost importance. While the tax base is expected to stabilize in the coming years, aligning services with the community's needs continues to be a challenge.

The City Continues To Need Your Help

These ongoing and emerging challenges mean that more difficult decisions will need to be made in defining the City's priorities and determining where General Fund dollars are to be spent. The City is asking for your ongoing participation to assist in this effort. Many opportunities will be offered to voice your opinions, develop innovative solutions and give feedback.

There's Nothing Cool About Fireworks

The Danger

A pretty sparkler burns at a whopping 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit. It's not a safe toy to put in a child's hand, or an adult's. No firework is. Fireworks are unpredictable. They spit hot sulfur and can unexpectedly explode. They can burn limbs and ruin lives, and there's nothing cool about that.

The Bottom Line

All fireworks, including safe and sane, are against the law in Long Beach. They have been for more than 50 years.

The Consequences

Light any fireworks, in Long Beach and you may spend six months in jail, pay a $1,000 fine, or both.

The Alternative

This July, over 50 dazzling firework displays (controlled by the hands of professionals who specialize in pyrotechnics) will be held throughout the county. The City of Long Beach encourages everyone to view fireworks in this safe manner. Please check local newspapers for location and times.
